LEWIS GUILTY OF CONTEMPT; JUDGE POSTPONES SENTENCE

Teacher Pay Boost Will Average $500

Money for Salaries to Be Provided by 3-Mill Levy Voted Last Month; Delegation Offers Protest.

Salaries of Mansfield teachers will be boosted an average $500 a year, beginning Jan. 15, under a revised pay schedule approved late yesterday at a special meeting of the board of education.

The increases were provided for by the three-mill levy which was passed at the Nov. 5 election.

The new pay scale makes it possible for teachers to reach the maximum salary in 11 years instead of 15 years as in the past and boosts the maximum pay for teachers with a master's degree from $2,500 to $3,100 a year. The minimum now for a teacher with no experience and without a degree is $1,400. The old schedule provided a minimum of $1,100.

These figures don't include the $150 a year provided 18 months ago by the state as a cost-of-living bonus. The bonus expires next June.

Other Employes Next.

Last night's action by the board covered only teachers' salaries. A pay increase schedule is being worked out to cover office workers, custodians, and other school employes, Board Clerk John H. Eisaman said. It will be submitted to the board later this month.

Board members approved the schedule unanimously after a delegation of 17 teachers, representing the Mansfield Federation of Teachers and Mansfield Teachers' association, protested that their organizations had been given no opportunity to study the new pay bill. The spokesmen contended teachers won't get enough of the money provided by the special tax levy.

Substance of the teachers' argument was that the public and teachers understood the entire amount provided by the three-mill levy would be used for pay increases for teachers and other school employes.

Some Get $600.

Board members said the levy campaign emphasized that increases of $500 a year would be provided and that pledge has been carried out in the new pay schedule. Some teachers, now under the maximum provided for their training and experience, will be increased as much as $600 a year

U. S. DECIDES TO MOVE GAS IN PIPELINES

Krug Mystifies Committee By Sudden Decision.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Congressional probers were mystified today over the government's sudden decision to use the Big and Little inch petroleum pipelines to carry natural gas during the coal emergency.

Rep. Slaughter (D) Mo., chairman of the house surplus property committee, issued a statement expressing gratification over the announcement made before his group by Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug. The two pipelines, idle for more than a year, extend from Texas to the Philadelphia-New York area.

Slaughter and other committee members told reporters, however, that they had been advised from various sources that Krug's decision to grant a temporary lease to the Tennessee Gas and Transportation Co. apparently was made within a matter of hours before he appeared before the house group Monday afternoon.

Charles H. Smith, president of Big Inch Oil, Inc., of New York, complained to Slaughter that as late as 8 p. m. (EST) Sunday he had been advised by the Interior department that no final action was under consideration on emergency use of the pipelines. Slaughter invited Smith to lay his complaint formally before the committee today.

Smith said his concern had made a "better offer" than the Tennessee company, promising to pay the government eight cents for every thousand cubic feet moved through the pipelines, compared to six cents being paid by his competitor.

The secretary's announcement took the committee by surprise, as the cabinet officer had stated the previous day that he was appearing principally to answer questions from committee members.

Krug advised the committee that the two 1,500-mile pipelines would move "within five or six days" fifty million cubic feet of natural gas from the southwest to Ohio, Indiana and possibly Pennsylvania. He added that it was hoped to double this volume in a week or two and triple it within 45 days. The gas will be distributed "wherever the need is greatest" as determined by the Federal Power commission.

FIRE DESTROYS BUS

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A Cleveland transit system bus valued at $13,000 was destroyed by fire yesterday soon after 30 passengers got off hastily.

CATLETT SEEKS TO LEAD PARTY

Reported Candidate For Majority Floor Leader in Ohio House.

Mansfield's John L. Catlett, county representative to the Ohio legislature, will be a candidate for the post of majority floor leader when the state's lawmakers organize the 97th general assembly in Columbus Jan. 6, the International News Service said today.

The Mansfield attorney announced his candidacy at the last minute as house Republicans, who will control their half of the legislature, prepared to meet in caucus this afternoon.

A two-term representative before he resigned to enter the navy during the war, Catlett will be opposed by Robert R. Shaw, three-term Columbus attorney who is now speaker, and Paul L. McCormick, five-term Huntsville (Logan county) merchant.

Meanwhile, INS said that the length of the new legislative session may well be determined by the GOP caucus today when a house speaker and other officers are to be chosen.

Should the election proceed smoothly, a short legislative term may be in prospect. However, if a bitter wrangle develops, rancor may be carried over into the general assembly deliberations. Personalities always have delayed legislative consideration.

Since the GOP holds a 123-16 majority in the house, the choices of the caucus are certain to be elected when the 97th assembly convenes.

MATERNITY UNIT PLANS FINISHED

Plans for General hospital's new maternity ward are complete and those for the X-ray addition nearly finished but work on the two additions will not be started before spring, Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent, said today.

Plans for the maternity ward call for an L-shaped addition running to Ohio street, the main section to be 40 by 129 feet. A second wing, running east will be 77 by 40 feet.

The addition will be joined to the main part of the hospital building by a long corridor.

As planned the maternity ward will accommodate 62 mothers and 70 babies.

Cost of the maternity ward was originally estimated at $250,000. Increased costs both of labor and materials are expected to boost the figure appreciably.

Permit for the X-ray addition, to be built at a cost of $17,000, has been received from the CPA in Cleveland. No permit for the maternity ward has yet been obtained.

Plans for both additions are be- architect.

MERCURY RISING AFTER SHARP DIP

Mansfielders were enjoying a respite from yesterday's severe cold as the mercury rose slowly today after dipping to 13 degrees above zero last night.

The warming-up process was expected to melt away the first snow coverage of the winter in northern Ohio and bring traffic conditions back to normal.

The forecast for Ohio was cloudy tonight and Wednesday with rising temperatures. Precipitation was expected about Friday, but otherwise it would be generally fair, the bureau said.

Rising temperatures had climbed to 28 degrees in the city shortly before noon, the Longview station of the Ohio Public Service company reported. Highest temperature recorded yesterday at the Hayesville weather station was 23 degrees.

Goossens Wins Praise Of City's Music Lovers

By MARGUERITE MILLER

One of the six leading symphonic ensembles of the nation, led by an internationally-noted conductor, gave Mansfield music lovers their most enjoyable evening in a long time last night.

The Cincinnati Symphony orchestra under the direction of Eugene Goossens appeared for the second of the Civic Music association's concert series at John Simpson auditorium.

It would be difficult to say whether the old favorites or the presentation of the colorful "Appalachian Spring Suite" by the American composer, Aaron Copland, was most enjoyed. Every selection, including the generous offering of three encores, was received with a burst of applause which brought the genial conductor back to his platform and the musicians to their feet.

Undoubtedly the highlight of the evening belonged to Goossens himself who led his musicians through the moody, silver-threaded Debussy "Nocturnes" and the masterful, emphatic Wagnerian encores with the touch of the musician-extraordinaire. Never once did Goossens take full credit for the performance, but rather shared it with his orchestra.

It was also the last opportunity for Mansfielders to see Goossens direct the Cincinnati ensemble as the famous composer, conductor, pianist and violinist leaves in March to become conductor of the Sydney (Australia) symphony orchestra and director of the New South Wales Conservatory of Music. He is now conducting his 15th season in Cincinnati.

Opens With Berlioz.

Opening with the showy and gay "Roman Carnival" overture by Berlioz, Goossens brought out the full orchestra in the instrmental combinations.

The two nocturnes, "Clouds" and "Festivals", probably containing Debussy's most individualistic and personal expressions, proved one of the favorites of the evening as the orchestra perfect-

STRIKE GRIPS OAKLAND AREA

OAKLAND, Calif. —(INS)— Oakland and nearby East Bay communities were gripped in a paralyzing general strike today.

Public transportation serving upward of a million persons came to a complete halt, even before the hour set for the strike—8 a. m. (EST).

Restaurants, bars and union shop grocery stores and meat shops were scheduled to remain closed for at least the next 24 hours.

Building and construction workers likewise were scheduled to boycott their jobs.

The strike gripped a broad area of dense population, affecting residents of Alameda, Berkeley, El Cerrito, Richmond, Hayward and many other communities.

As the 8 a. m. strike hour passed, a few pickets appeared in downtown Oakland. Cab drivers drove their taxis back to their garages.

Although the strike was called by AFL unions in a dispute with Oakland police, CIO unions announced they would respect all picket lines.

With key system trains, buses and trolleys and other means of public transportation halted, the navy set up a fleet of special buses to carry navy personnel and civilian employes to their jobs in the affected areas.

In San Francisco, cab drivers said they were under orders not to accept fares to Oakland across the bay bridge. Greyhound bus lines likewise refused to sell tickets to Oakland points.

The only remaining link in public transportation appeared to be the Southern Pacific train ferry to Oakland.

State highway patrolmen and police mapped plans for unprecedented vehicle traffic across the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

FLOTILLA PUSHES WAY SOUTHWARD

ABOARD THE U. S. S. MT. OLYMPUS — (AP) — Heavy seas made the going rough today as the navy's Antarctic expedition pushed southward, heading for the Panama Canal.

Off Hatteras last night swells rolled the four ships of this contingent until dishes were smashed by the dozens.

The flotilla, which includes the flagship, a destroyer, a seaplane tender and an icebreaker, is due at Panama Saturday.

Mine Boss Promptly Jumps to His Feet To Challenge Ruling

Trial Terminates on Fifth Day After Union Attorneys Decline to Call Defense Witnesses In Rebuttal to Prosecution Testimony Offered by Government.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough at 11:30 a. m. today formally found John L. Lewis and the UMW guilty of contempt of court. He then asked for the views of defense and government attorneys regarding what punishment should be administered.

For this reason, Goldsborough said he would adjourn court until 10 a. m. EST tomorrow.

In the meantime, at the request of Government Attorney Sonnett, Lewis was placed in the custody of defense counsel.

Sonnett made his suggestion in reply to Goldsborough's question of whether Lewis should be held under bond pending tomorrow's session.

Lewis' attorneys assured the court that the UMW chief would be available at any time the court desired.

The court then adjourned until 10 a. m. EST tomorrow.

Goldsborough observed that "the matter of sentence of course is very important, and while it is somewhat unusual the court would like the views of defense counsel and government as to what sentence should be imposed."

Before formally announcing his contempt verdict, Judge Goldsborough had announced that he would find Lewis guilty of contempt of court.

With the contempt of court trial case in its fifth day, Lewis and the United Mine Workers union rested their case without presenting any defense testimony.

Lewis, silent throughout five days of court proceedings, immediately rose and made a statement in which he asserted that under the law, labor unions are specifically exempted from injunctions and court orders.

Lewis charged that the court granted the injunction requiring withdrawal of the walkout notice "without notice and without a hearing."

Lewis Defends Action.

Lewis asserted "there is a federal constitution binding upon all —even the government—a constitution which guarantees to miners as to all freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of assembly, and freedom from involuntary servitude.

His voice rising, Lewis said:

"You sir, I respectfully submit, have deprived the miners of their constitutional rights. As a citizen, the miners and I stand upon our rights guaranteed in the constitution.

"This is labor's traditional position."

Just before defense rested its case, Goldsborough admitted into evidence a newsreel statement by John L. Lewis on May 29. Lewis was quoted as saying before the camera:

Talks In Newsreel.

"A contract has just been covered by execution of the White House. It's a national bituminous agreement by and between the government as represented by Secretary of Interior Krug and the United Mine Workers of America. It settles for the period of government operation all the questions at issue."

The court admitted the statement on the grounds that it tended to show that Lewis did not have a 30-day abbrogation clause in mind when he made the statement. It was entered into the record over the objections of defense counsel who contended "that is not the position of defendants."

Defense attorneys contended that the newsreel statement presented "no evidence to the contrary" that it was Lewis' position that Section 15 of the 1945 Krug-Lewis agreement and other unamended sections were carried forward in the contract with the government.

COAL SHORTAGE CLOSES INDUSTRIES AT GALION

While Mansfield industries were becoming more concerned today with the lack of raw materials than a shortage of coal, Galion industrial plants were requested by Mayor William Amann to close Thursday and remain closed until more coal is received. Shelby will start dimming its white-way lights today.

Coal supplies in Mansfield industries are adequate for the present since most plants use coal for heating only, spokesmen said.

Unless the current strike should extend over a long period, Mansfield employes will be warm enough if they can stay at work. But whether industrial firms will be able to continue producing depends to a great extent on their receiving raw materials, company officials said. Most of these raw materials are obtained from steel and other companies where production is dependent on coal.

The situation at Galion reached a climax yesterday when Mayor Amann told industrial leaders that the city's supply of coal will last only five or six days and that in order to conserve coal for home use, industrial plants would have to close.

Mayor Amann called a meeting of all industrial heads for 2 p. m. today when it was expected plans would be made for the closing of Galion plants.

By saving coal at industrial plants, Galion hopes to have enough for the City hospital, water system and disposal plant.

Mansfield General hospital has only 40 or 50 tons of coal, which ordinarily would last about a month.

The hospital uses, in cold weather such as Mansfield has been having the past few days, three or four tons daily. At that rate, hospital officials said they are worried about future coal supplies.

Uncertainty about raw materials is causing concern at the Empire Steel corporation, J. B. Montgomery, president, said today. Coal stocks are adequate, he said, unless the strike should continue indefinitely.

At the Tappan Stove company, shortage of steel has become so acute that the company has cut off all overtime and decreased the working week to five days, officials said today. Coal supplies on hand are enough to last for three or four weeks.

Westinghouse officials said that the shortage of raw materials is nothing new there. The company has been short of some metals ever since V-J day, but the present strike condition makes the picture darker, officials declared. The plant has enough coal for heating purposes to last about 30 days if the weather remains normal.

"We are not too worried about getting raw materials," officials at the Ideal Electric said, "and our coal supply is adequate for at least a month."

There is no immediate danger either from a shortage of fuel or raw materials at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, officials reported.

The only plant affected so far by the coal shortage is the Ohio Seamless Tube company where workers are on a three-day week. A number of employes of the Shelby-Miller Products company were laid off because of a raw materials shortage.

NATION'S COAL SUPPLY FADING

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— The nation's stockpile of soft coal faded rapidly toward the danger point today as the season's first cold snap doubled consumption.

Scores of industries were converting heating equipment to oil and natural gas in an attempt to avert a complete shutdown when existing soft coal supplies are exhausted.

The number of unemployed resulting from the 13-day walkout of soft coal miners totaled 515,000 including the 400,000 diggers, and more workers were added to the list hourly.

Denver, a city of 400,000 population, was the hardest hit. Coal supplies in dealers' yards were exhausted. Many apartment buildings were without heat and officials warned that the city was heading for disaster this week end. All schools were closed.

Thousands of homeowners put the axe in the family car and headed for the country to chop wood to burn instead of coal. Farmers also were affected by the scarcity of coal. Only the high price of wheat kept them from burning it to keep their homes warm.

J. F. Stemel, manager of the Crowbar Coal company in Colorado, asked the governor for police protection for miners willing to work. Gov. John C. Vivian said he was willing to consider "any possible plan" to get coal for the state and might ask the sheriff to provide protection for diggers who wanted to work.

Only about 30,000 tons of coal were being produced daily from a few strip mines still in operation and the solid fuels administration at Pittsburgh reported its emergency stockpile had dwindled from 110,000 to 75,000 tons.

"Domestic pressure for emergency supplies definitely is on," said Harry Sutter, SFA regional director.

Public Appeals Board Gives Green Light To New $235,000 Friendly House Building

Mansfield's new $235,000 Friendly House building was given the green light by Public Appeals Board members last night. They approved the agency's request to conduct a $60,000 campaign toward cost of the proposed settlement house.

The campaign was likewise approved by the executive committee of the Mansfield Community Fund, whose members granted an estimated increase in operating costs of $2,000 effective when the agency takes over the new site.

Difference between the $60,000 for which the Friendly House will campaign and the total cost of the new building will be borne by local manufacturers through the Richland Foundation, a charitable trust group.

A date for starting the money-raising campaign was being considered by directors of the Friendly House at a special session today.

THE SITE FOR THE NEW settlement house consists of three lots facing North Mulberry street between Aten Way and Vale avenue. The ground was donated by Carl Sternbaum, 165 Vale avenue, as a memorial to his son, Lt. Jacob Sternbaum, killed in May 1944 when his plane crashed in the Himalaya mountains in the India-Burma war theater.

Along with the approval, Fred B. Hout, president of the Community Fund, said::

"It is the feeling of the Community Fund board that when the Friendly House building is completed there should be no mortgage on either building or equipment. It is also the feeling of the board that the Community could not assume the added load of underwriting the interest charges of a mortgage."

IN APPROVING THE $2,000 increased operating cost, Hout and the members said they felt that not only the Friendly House, but other agencies planning new buildings, should keep the increase in operating costs at a minimum.

"This is being urged," Hout said, "so that the contributors to the Community Fund could meet the total load in future years."

The approval of the Friendly House project is the first step in "Operation Tomorrow," a long range program aimed at new or remodeled quarters for the Salvation Army, YMCA, YWCA, and Girl Scouts. Total cost of the entire project is expected to exceed $800,000.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — Two senators, Ferguson, of Michigan, a Republican, and Fulbright, of Arkansas, a Democrat, have now proposed a system of special federal courts to deal with labor disputes. I believe the basic idea was original with Judge John C. Knox, of New York, who, in the twilight years of his judicial career, belatedly is coming to be known by the people as a giant in his defense of real American liberties.

Judge Knox is a much better man than any of the Roosevelt appointees to the supreme court but knowingly forfeited his chance of a distinction to which most judges aspire when, as a citizen, he fought Roosevelt on the court-packing plan.

He was one of the few who were able to dramatize the fact that Roosevelt intended not only to pack the supreme court but planned to corrupt federal justice below by naming a team of reliable New Deal devotees, with headquarters in Washington, who could be assigned to try cases in which the government and the ruling politicians and bureaucrats had a special interest. To the extent that this evil intent was understood outside congress Judge Knox earned credit for a loyal and self-sacrificing defense of American justice, in defiance of the leader of his own party.

I assume that Senators Ferguson and Fulbright readily yield to Judge Knox the honor of having first proposed federal labor courts and equally confident that the judge would waive priority as of no importance. The important thing is to cause it to be talked up among the people, including union members, so that the arguments may be understood which show that the rulers of the union movement, with their fatal potential power over the nation, are, in fact, reactionaries, not progressives, and far behind the times.

THESE ARE old men, and Lewis, Green, Murray, Tobin, Dubinsky and Woll are among the most obstructive. Like the obdurate magnates of big business in their time, they have acquired that sort of power which is never yielded except to force, whether political or military, by a King John, a George III, a Vanderbilt or a Wayne B. Wheeler.

They have their incomes, comfort and security. They have fame and flattery for their souls. They are, in their way, historic and they constantly threaten their subjects with the fear that if they should be hampered the subjects would lose their "protectors" and be thrown to the wolves. If labor courts were instituted, most of them would be broken, discredited and outmoded men and it is no exaggeration to say that some would crack up and die of shock, self-pity and bitterness in the way of Woodrow Wilson.

They have not progressed in all the years since Roosevelt's first inauguration. They have taken their stand on an imperfect experiment, the Wagner Act, whose fallacies and harmful defects objective men soon recognized.

And, while Roosevelt, their patron, preached experiment, progress and change as general political propaganda, they damned all change and still do. To them, for reasons of selfishness and "consistency," the Wagner Act has been the goal, the final, if slightly imperfect development in labor relations, and progress has gone as far as it can go and any change would be a backward movement toward boss terrorism and serfdom.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

NOTHING is to be gained by an endurance contest as to who can stand the coal strike the longer. This is no way to assert the authority of the government, and it will be much better to admit frankly and promptly that the laws as they now stand, and the government as now administered, are insufficient to deal with a labor leader like John L. Lewis and a strategic monopoly like the United Mine Workers.

The next congress will then know with what it has to deal and in the meantime a settlement, though it means a defeat for the government, will avert incalculable suffering and economic ruin.

The government has refused, for reasons that are not clear, to use all its powers in an effort to enforce the law. It has failed by the action it has taken to obtain from Lewis either the observance of the contract, or even a recognition that the meaning of the contract should be impartially adjudicated. The law has been defied successfully.

That being the situation, the authority of the government is not being preserved by subjecting the people and the miners to a grueling contest which is causing irreparable damage to this country and to the world. That will merely prolong the demonstration that the government is unable to assert its authority and to protect the public interest.

The time has come, therefore, to go to congress for laws that can be enforced and that do protect the public interest. Since congress cannot pass these laws quickly enough to avert the ruin that this strike is causing, it is better for the government to accept defeat and let the mine operators settle as best they can. Lewis will have won his battle. But in the end the nation, having seen what it is up against, may win the campaign.

IN A QUITE different and separate field the authority of the government is at stake in the controversy over an investigation of American military government in Germany. The four Republican senators who are members of the Kilgore committee want to go to Germany to investigate. Secretary Byrnes, Senators Vandenberg and Connally do not want them to go.

The Republican senators have issued a statement saying that the committee is trying "desperately to conceal something wrong."

This is a curious accusation. One of the four Republicans who made it is Senator Ferguson of Michigan, and he is saying that his colleague, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, is trying "desperately to conceal something wrong" in order to protect the administration. But if Senator Vandenberg is trying to conceal a wrong, then Senator Ferguson should be opposed to his assuming the chairmanship of the foreign relations committee of the senate.

The real issue is whether conditions of military government in Germany should be investigated by the standing committee of the senate responsible for foreign relations or by a special committee which has no responsibility for foreign relations. There is no question of concealing wrongs, for Republicans will control all the committees of the senate.

The views of the senate on the principle involved were expressed last spring when the senate voted in its version of the LaFollette-Monroney bill to prohibit entirely all special committees. In the final act this provision (Sec. 126) was deleted at the insistence of the house but, nevertheless, this may be taken as the disinterested judgment of the senate.

IF SENATOR Vandenberg is to be chairman of the foreign relations committee, then there should not be another committee run by Senators Brewster, Ferguson, Ball and Knowland, interfering in foreign relations.

The substance of what Senator Brewster wants to investigate is known and has already been published. There are evils that call for correction. But sending Senator Brewster to Germany is no way to correct them. That will only humiliate the United States in the presence of the Allies and of the German people, and make it appear — quite falsely — that American military government is specially and peculiarly bad. That is not true. But it would be made to seem to be true, and the effect on the negotiations for a German settlement would be wholly destructive.

Church Authorized To Sell Property

Trustees of the Pilgrim Holiness church have been granted authority to sell church property consisting of Lot 1,287 in Mansfield by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, records in the clerk of courts office revealed today.

COLD WEATHER REDUCES AREA JOB OPENINGS

Placements Off 50 Per Cent In November, OSES Reports.

There were fewer jobs and fewer workers placed in jobs last month in the Mansfield area, the Ohio State Employment service reported today.

Job placements were off nearly 50 per cent as compared with October which was the highest month since V-J day, C. W. Handley, office manager, said.

The sharp decline in the number of placements and job openings during November was due in part to the normal leveling off in both classifications during winter months and to the removal of the Shelby area from the jurisdiction of the Mansfield office, Handley explained.

"Job openings usually decline in winter months, especially in construction trades. Also I believe there is less tendency for workers to quit one job in search of another," he said.

315 Workers Placed.

Workers placed in employment last month totaled only 315. Of this number 160 were placed in manufacturing industries. Fifty per cent were World War II veterans and 20 per cent were women.

Merchants seeking clerical and sales assistance for the Christmas rush accounted for eight per cent of the placements, Handley said.

The number of available jobs also dropped last month with only 320 openings on file Nov. 30 as compared with 525 on file Oct. 31.

Referrals to job openings by the OSES office staff last month also declined although the drop was not quite as sharp. The office made 800 referrals last month as compared with slightly more than 1,000 in October, Handley said.

New applications for employment were approximately the same last month as in October, with slightly more than 300 being received each month.

Helping to keep new applications for work at a normal figure during winter months is the annual influx of farm laborers who start looking for jobs in town with the arrival of the first cold weather, the employment office manager explained.

COUNTY APPROVES $333 IN CLAIMS

County commissioners today had approved payment of $333 in animal and poultry claims and witness fees covering the loss of sheep and chickens as the result of raids by dogs in the county.

The claims will be paid Dec. 20 from the county dog license fund. Claims which were approved included:

REASONS LISTED FOR RESTRAINER

In a petition supplementing a former action, Edward J. Hultman, 341 North Townview circle, today listed for Richland county common pleas court, reasons he said he sought a temporary restraining order to restrain M. H. Pryor, president of the Pryor Manufacturing company and other majority shareholders, from dissolving that corporation by sale to another unidentified corporation.

Hultman originally filed a petition Nov. 25 asking the court to name a receiver to conserve the assets of the corporation. He had alleged that the sale to a new corporation to be formed was not bona fide and was an attempt to "freeze out" the plaintiff as a shareholder.

In a statement at that time, Pryor termed Hultman a disgruntled former employe and said that the company never had a plan to take advantage of him.

In his new petition, Hultman says the company has outstanding $50,000 in unsecured debentures of which he holds $3,000.

PASTORS OK AGENCY'S WORK

The work of the Volunteers of America was endorsed by the Mansfield Ministerial association at a meeting yesterday at the Mansfield library.

Approval of the program of the welfare agency followed a talk by Mrs. R. L. Gutterman, wife of Adj. Gutterman, head of the Volunteers. While no definite plan was drawn up by the association, the opinion was voiced that this approval would be carried out through individual congregations or in any way the minister prefers.

The discussion was led by Dr. J. Campbell White, who spoke on "Church Unity." Dr. White, an active layman before he entered the ministry and a missionary in India for 10 years, presented his views from a world-wide experience. He urged spiritual unity among all churches and particularly stressed the need for more missionaries.

"There are now about 18,000 missionaries in the various fields," Dr. White said, "but we need three times that many to provide even one trained missionary for 25,000 persons in foreign fields."

Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Rev. Willard J. Shawk, pastor of Main Street Evangelical, and Rev. Olan W. Aughbaugh, assistant pastor of the First English Lutheran church, were appointed as a committee to arrange for Lenten services, beginning in February.

Rev. C. A. Portz, president of the association, presided.

CHILD DISEASES SHOW INCREASE

A mild, seasonal increase in diseases during November was reported today by city health officials who also said that the number of tuberculosis cases in the city jumped from one to five from October through November.

Warning Mansfield parents to keep ill children segregated from others as a disease control measure, health officials said that diphtheria, influenza, scarlet fever, pneumonia, German measles and whooping cough cases all showed slight increases during November. Inceases ranged from one to two cases in these disease types.

A decrease in the number of chicken pox cases was reported, as well as drops in the number of venereal diseases and in infantile paralysis cases. Regular measles remained at zero and there was no increase in the number of mumps cases.

Street, Highway Workers Set To Cope With Snow and Ice

By ART ANDERSON

Street and road departments in Mansfield and Richland county today were ready for Old Man Winter to do his worst.

In Mansfield, Charles Hebel, street superintendent, reported a carload of salt on hand for softening icy streets. A stock pile of 75 truck loads of cinders has also been built up.

For use on the 400 miles of county roads the Richland county highway department has stocked approximately 3,000 cubic yards of cinders at the county garage on North Main street, Walter E. Rusk, county engineer, reported.

Fifty-five tons of salt and 80 tons of calcium cloride also have been stocked there by the county highway department. Smaller stockpiles have been advantageously located at Bellville and Shelby, Rusk said.

"WE ARE IN ABOUT THE same position we were in last fall, but we are in far better shape than two years ago," the engineer said.

Rusk's department now has 10 snowplows, a tractor equipped with a snowblade and a road maintainer and has been promised immediate delivery of a cinder spreader to supplement those on hand. He has hopes of receiving another one later.

As soon as weather conditions warrant, the crews will be divided into a night and day force.

THE COUNTY ENGINEER has a plan for beating the drift problem. Having found that hedge fences are the worst offenders, he offered to clean out hedge fences with the aid of a county bulldozer. This will save county highway workers many headaches when the snow and wind blow.

Also to lick the drift problem, state highway workers in the county have secured 4,500 feet of snowfence, Clarence G. Tugend, highway superintendent, reported.

TRUCKS ARE LOADED nightly with cinders in preparation for emergency calls, and salt is ready to be piled onto the trucks, Tugend said.

The Richland county division of the state highway department has ten snowplows and 36 men ready for call 24 hours a day, he said.

The trend in recent years in freeing ice-bound paved road surfaces is away from cinders and toward the use of more salt, Tugend explained.

"In line with this we have stored more salt than ever before," he said.

HIS DEPARTMENT HAS 200 tons of salt stored at the North Diamond street location, 100 tons at Butler, 50 tons at Shelby and 50 to 60 tons at Lucas and seventy more tons are expected daily, Tugend reported.

His division also has stocked 80 tons of calcium cloride and 5,000 to 6,000 tons of cinders. Barrels of cinders have been placed on hills all along the principal highways, he reported.

On his division, U. S. Routes 30 north, south, and east and U. S. Route 42 north and south receive first priority attention since these are the heaviest traveled arteries. Worst sections on these routes, according to Tugend, are the Ashland hill, Sandy hill and the stretch south out of Lexington.

35 SECRETARIES JOIN NEW GROUP

Thirty-five Mansfield secretariestaries will become charter members of the Mansfield chapter of the National Secretaries association at installation services Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce assembly room.

Mrs. Hazel Campbell, national registrar of Kansas City, announced plans for the services today. She and Miss Margaret Rebel, registrar, also of Kansas City but formerly of Akron, have been in Mansfield for two weeks organizing the local chapter.

The Mansfield group will be the eleventh installed in Ohio, Mrs. Campbell said, adding that representatives of the Canton, Akron and Cleveland chapters were expected to participate in the installation ceremonies.

John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will deliver an address of welcome.

Mrs. Campbell said temporary officers would be appointed to serve three months after which permanent officers will be elected. She outlined the purposes of the association as to "unite socially, educationally and protectively" women serving as business secretaries. The association is "non-partisan, non-union, non-political and non-sectarian," she said.

Refreshments will be served following the installation.

POSTAL RECEIPTS HEAD FOR RECORD

Mansfield post office receipts are heading for a possible all-time high, Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said today.

Receipts of $394,711.97 for the first 11 months of 1946 showed an increase of $6,517.45 over the first 11 months of 1945. "We figure to have the biggest year in the history of the post office if this rate of increase continues through December which is our heaviest month each year," Ford said.

Receipts for November were $38,703.53, an increase of $1,928.85 over November of 1945, Ford said. If the December total tops $44,000, the year's receipts will exceed the $438,217.12 figure which made 1945 the greatest in Mansfield post office history.

TIRE COMPANY LOCATES LOST OIL HEATERS

4 Families Suffer From Cold While Equipment's Stranded on Akron Siding.

Four families at Vetsville near Mifflin, whose only heat during the cold wave has been provided by electric ranges and small, improvised heaters, received some help today from the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company which trucked larger heaters to the housing project from Akron.

For several weeks officials of the W. B. Gibson company, project contractors, and the Charles Hoffman company, Mansfield heating dealer, had worried because a shipment of oil heaters from an Iowa firm had failed to arrive.

Then Paul H. Schultz, vice-president of the Hoffman company, began checking to learn why the shipment hadn't arrived.

He found that the heaters had been trucked to Chicago and transferred to the B. and O. railroad, but there the trail was lost. That was last Friday.

Stymied temporarily, Schultz then sought the aid of Clyde K. Smaltz, director of transportation for the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Smaltz located the heaters yesterday in a freight car on a siding in Akron.

He notified Schultz and William K. Mackey, office manager for the Gibson company, of the location of the heaters.

Families Shiver.

Meanwhile, four veterans and their families had been permitted to move into units at the project, because they were being forced to move and had no place else to go.

Mackey consulted Smaltz and the rubber company provided a truck and crew to get the heaters to Vetsville for the "veterans and their families."

At 10 p. m. yesterday the first truckload of the shipment rolled into Vetsville, and by noon today six of the heaters had been installed by workmen from the Hoffman company who were speeded to the job at the direction of Schultz.

The Mansfield Tire truck was to return to Akron today to pick up the remaining 13 heaters in the shipment, Mackey said.

The Gibson company has turned 21 completed units over to the McVey post, American Legion, which is sponsoring the housing project.

Now that the heaters have arrived, contractors expect to complete 15 to 20 more units this week, Mackey said.

EX-NAVY MEN MEET TONIGHT

The part Mansfield ex-enlisted men can play in the Mansfield naval reserve program will be explained tonight at 7:30 by Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser at a meeting in John Simpson junior high school auditorium.

"This meeting is of great importance to those men who are interested in getting in on the ground floor of the navy's "ready reserve" unit which will consist of 200 enlisted men in the various pay grades," Heiser said.

"There will also be a 'volunteer reserve' unit consisting of an electronics warfare company with 40 enlisted men and five platoons with nine men each.

"I am hoping that we get the same turnout and enthusiastic reception at this meeting for enlisted men as we had last week at the meeting for Naval Reserve officers. Then truly will I be able to say—'heave-ho, we're off to a sailing start.'"

Beautician Charges Seven Conspired to Ruin Business

Hazel Marie Isaac, operator of a beauty salon at 73½ North Main street, charged today in an action on file in common pleas court, that seven persons had conspired to ruin her business because she had refused to sign an agreement on prices to be charged her customers.

She asserts the threatening manner of the defendants has injured her health.

She asks judgment of $10,000.

In her petition, she asserts that Pearl Minnick, 78½ North Diamond street; Robert Gurth, 57 South Diamond street; and Francis Kaylor, 11½ West Fourth street, and four others unknown to her, entered her beauty parlor on Nov. 26, during business hours.

"In a loud, angry, boisterous and insulting manner, she said, they produced a paper represented by them to be an agreement to fix prices which she would be obliged to charge for her services as a beautician." She said they told her that unless she signed they would "cause her to lose her license and would have her prosecuted and sent to jail."

She charged that they "spoke so menacingly" to one of her girl employes that the girl started to cry and quit her job. She asserted the incident took place in the presence of customers.

Since that time the plaintiff alleges that "the defendants have made 'phoney' phone calls and fictitious appointments until her health has been affected and her business has become almost ruined and non-existent."

The action taken by the plaintiff, a minor, was filed by her next friend, Goldie Erndt, 135 Vale avenue.

Tips on Keeping Your Holiday Corsage Fresh

When the party's over, don't you always hate to throw away your corsage? Gardenias, orchids, camelias—each one of them adds a special feeling to any occasion and makes the simplest dress look like Paris. Isn't it difficult to part with them, even when the flowers begin to get that brown-edged, wilted look?

Here's a simple way to postpone the parting and keep them dewey fresh for a few extra days of wear. Just put them back in the florist's box, sprinkle a few drops of water on them. Then stretch a sheet of moistureproof cellophane over the top of the box, seal the sides and ends with cellophane tape, so that no air can get in and put the box in the refrigerator.

This cellophane protection will retard wilting and help to keep even the most exotic blooms fresh so that you can wear them for two or three more nights. Orchids, for instance, are sturdy flowers if given the proper protection. With care like this they can be kept for three or four days without losing their splendor, and the dewy fragrance of a gardenia will last even longer.

CORRECTION.

Mrs. Robert Lyons, whose wedding was reported in the Sunday paper, is the daughter of Mrs. Sadie Harris of Mt. Vernon and the late Mr. Harris. The wedding took place in Caledonia.

"Say . . . Who's Boss Here?"

Baby gives the orders when it comes to milk. And every day, more Mansfield mothers are finding that their babies prefer Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk.

This preference by babies is the result of Homogenization, a process which distributes the cream evenly through the milk and makes it taste richer and creamier than ordinary milk. Every drop, right down to the bottom of the bottle is uniformly wholesome and nourishing. Homogenized Milk agrees with babies better, too, because they can digest it quicker and easier. But prove it to yourself . . . Give your baby Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk and watch the reaction!

You may obtain this scientifically improved, more delicious milk at your grocery—from the Isaly milkman in your neighborhood, or at any Isaly Dairy store. Just telephone us—4217-6—if you'd like home delivery service.

Homogenized milk is Pasteurized milk scientifically processed by forcing every drop through very small openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more butterfat globules. These tiny cream particles then combine with the milk and never separate. Thus, there's cream through the entire quart.

TYGER CAGERS SHOW FOR FIRST TIME TONIGHT

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

HONOR TEAM selections are and have been for a number of years strictly a hodge podge. . . . Witness, for instance, the divergence of opinions on the various All-America combines and closer to home the All-Ohio high school aggregations picked by the Associated Press, International News Service and United Press . . . A total of 41 outstanding (?) schoolboys were given first and second string berths and among the group only two were unanimous No. 1 team choices . . . The pair were Bill Gregus, Toledo Waite fullback, and Hugh O'Brien, Steubenville Central end . . . And the same coaches and most of the same sports writers were polled in the selections.

Though we might be cited as blowing off local steam, the absence of Ralph Majors on any of the honor backfields is still puzzling . . . He was undoubtedly one of the state's better all-around backs and rates in our book with Gregus, Bill Sharp, Lima Central, and Ken Horvath, Tyger linebuster ('til he suffered a broken leg) as the top quartet of backs we've seen on scholastic gridirons in the past few years . . . Only back that compares with them in our book is Pistol Pete Williams, Navy ace . . . Pete was all-Southern for two years while playing with Miami (Fla.) high and we watched the Pistol go in about 10 games . . . And ask anybody that saw the Army-Navy tilt Saturday if the lad can't step.

UP ALL-OHIO team also came out today . . . Bob Rondy and Dave Boals, linemen; Majors and Horvath were given honorable mention . . . Players mentioned that went against the Tygers this season were: Gregus and Bob Carson, Waite; Gene Zorger, Massillon, all backs; Reynolds, Cleveland East, end; Elmer Scallish, Waite, tackle; Walter Green, Portsmouth, guard; Merle Darrah, Massilon, and Ben Cappilletti, centers.

COMPOSITE TEAMS compiled by the News-Journal from the wire service selections follows: First team, O'Brien and Ed Basinger, Lima South, ends; Scallish and Nick Balkovac, Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, tackles; Tom Bell, East Liverpool and Bob Brickman, Lima Central, guards; Jim Bartlett, Cincinnati Elder, center; Gregus, Ralph Pucci, Canton McKinley, Sharp, and Karl Sturtz, Coshocton, backs.

OBSERVATION: Bowl games are really running rampant this year, what with the eatin' one's, Sugar, Orange, Peanut, Raisin and a dozen others . . . About the only one that sponsors missed is the Finger Bowl . . . And the one reason for passing that one probably is that the durn things are too small.

CLEVELAND INDIANS baseball fortunes are looking up . . . Rogers Hornsby yesterday was signed as batting coach of Bill Veeck's '47 club . . . The Rajah was National league batting champ for seven years and clubbed .401 in 1922, .424 in '24 and .403 in '25 . . . He was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1942.

Heidelberg Five Gives Exhibition

Coach Vern Hoffman's 1946-47 model Mansfield Senior high school basketball machine will go on display for the first time tonight at the fourth annual cage clinic starting at 7:30 in the Tyger lair.

The Bengal basketeers are scheduled to meet a quintet composed of former Mansfield cage aces in the second half of the program. The varsity-alumni tilt is slated to get under way at about 8:30.

Coach Paul Horneman and his Heidelberg Student Princes feature the first half of the clinic. Horneman and his cagers will give a demonstration of zone defense and the fast break and methods of penetrating the zone.

Joe Blahnik, chairman of the Tyger club booster basketball committee, is master of ceremonies for the show and Jimmy Lymper, assistant Tyger mentor, will discuss the new court rules. Basketball squads will be introduced by Hoffman and Fred Staub reserve coach.

Proceeds of the clinic will go to the Tyger pep band which makes its first appearance tonight.

Area school coaches and players who will attend the clinic are: Loudonville, Elmer Boyer; Crestline, Merle Hutson; Union, Fred LaRue; Lucas, W. S. Barger; Bellville, Orville Kibler; Attica, Eugene Pierce, and Savannah, Ed Chatlain.

Chatlain is also in charge of the alumni team. Former Bengal courtmen who are expected to play tonight are: Don Hardy, Jim Regula, Bruce McGinty, Tom Scott, Jim LeMunyon, Russ Hoff, Dave Shelley, Jack Lyons, Don Rose, Gene Rudolph, Gene Herpick and Jim Hahn.

Hoffman is set on only three of his starting choices. Veterans Ollie Cline will go at guard, Chuck Sisco at center and Jerry Robfogel at a forward spot. The fourth letterman—Ralph Majors—is being pushed for an opening spot by Tom Bloor.

The fifth spot lies between smooth shooting Shelley Swank and rugged Nick Gagich, a junior. Bernie Weaver, 185-pound sophomore, showed to good advantage in Monday's drill and is listed for work against the grads.

Lymper and Vere O. Smith are scheduled to officiate the contest.

Mansfield plays its first high school competition Friday night when the Wapakoneta Redskins invade the local gym.

Boxers Ready For F-H Show

Friendly House gymnasium is a beehive of activity as boxers prepare for Thursday night's F-H-40 et 8 fight show at Senior high auditorium, at 8:15.

Kenny Berry, Eddie Knapp, Dick Bohland, Tom Weaver, Jack Brandt, Art Miller, Walter Lumpkins, Pat Daley, and Russell Baker will represent the F-H on the boxing card. Berry, 135 pounder, headlines the fistic show in a four round fracas with Charles Glover, 138 pound Fremont pugster.

Mike Wentz, athletic director of the settlement, said today that reserved seat ducats can be purchased through Thursday afternoon at City News, Terminal Inn, Hunt's News, Fox Jewelry store, Sandy Maxwell's, Ritz Nite club, Saprano's Cigar store, East Side Nite club and the F-H.

Smokehouse, Tiremen Cop City A Tilts

Mansfield Tire and Rubber company and Smokehouse were triumphant in opening games in the City A basketball league at the Senior high gymnasium before more than 200 cage fans last night.

The Tiremen amassed 13 points in the final stanza of a see-saw battle to edge American Legion Post 72, 34-30, in the lid-lifter. Forward Dick Fisher creased the nets for 16 points in leading the Tire quint.

In a tight defensive game, the Smokehouse courtmen gained a three-point lead in the initial quarter and went on to drop McCarrick's Gulf station, 23-17. Ed Chatlain, Smokehouse pivotman, led the scoring with two baskets and four free tosses for eight points.

Announce INS All-America

NEW YORK—(INS)—Four of the players who helped to give Notre Dame one of its greatest football teams in years and three who made Army so able and colorful head the International News Service All-America announced herewith today.

The Fighting Irish supplied George Connor, tackle; John Mastrangelo, guard; George Strohmeyer, center, and Johnny Lujack, quarterback.

From the Army team come Hank Goldberg, one of the finest ends of all time, and, of course, Glenn Davis and Felix (Doc) Blanchard, who have given Army one of the greatest of runner-plunger combinations.

The other players named on the first squad include Burr Baldwin, U. C. L. A., end; Warren Amling, Ohio State tackle; Alex Agase, Illinois guard, and Charlie Trippi, the backfield star who spearheaded unbeaten, untied Georgia's attack.

YM Church Loop Swings Into Action

YMCA church basketball league swings into action at the Y gym tonight at 7 with St. Matthews playing Park Avenue Baptist in the opener.

In the second game Ontario Community meets the First Presbyterian cagers and First Lutheran basketeers face Mayflower Congregational in the night cap.

St. Lukes Lutheran church draws a bye tonight, but plays the first game next Tuesday against Mayflower.

Junior Optimists Open

Friendly House Junior Optimist basketball league begins its 1946-47 season tonight at the F-H gym with the Cards pitted against the Giants in the opening game at 6:30, and the Yanks facing the Indians in the night-cap.

Mt. Gilead Opens

MT. GILEAD—Mt. Gilead's Indians begin their 1946-47 basketball season by entertaining Fredericktown, here tonight.

Mike Tresh, White Sox — Dick Wakefield, Tigers — Ken Keltner, Indians

TRADING BAIT — Among many major leaguers who may figure in trades at the major-minor league meetings in Los Angeles are the three baseballers pictured. The White Sox are trying to get a catcher that can hit and are reported ready to trade Mike Tresh. The Tigers' Dick Wakefield, who had a very bad year in 1946, reportedly is sought by several clubs including the Cleveland Indians who are looking for outfield talent. The Indians, in turn, may peddle Ken Keltner, for many years a star third sacker.

Rams Go to Mt. Vernon

MADISON FIVE TO INCLUDE 2 1945-46 VETS

Mansfield Madison opens its 1946-47 basketball campaign tonight against a rangy, experienced Mt. Vernon quintet on the opponent's court.

With only Herb Eldridge and Dick Ernsberger returning from the 1945-46 Rams squad, Coach Jeff DeHaven plans to use this game as an experimental contest in order to build the strongest team out of his ten prospective basketeers.

DeHaven announced that his probable starting line-up would have Eldridge teamed with Eldon Pritchard at the forward berths. He is not definite whether Bob Wilson or Dick Poth will be at the pivot position.

In the event that Wilson starts at center, then Poth will play guard with Ernsberger. If Poth starts at center, Wayne Strang will take over the other guard spot.

Eugene Maglott, forward; Dick Glenn, center; and Ed Thomas and Alex Bosko, guards will see plenty of action in tonight's cage contest.

All of DeHaven's ten varsity players were under the Madison mentor's tutorage during the past football season. Eldridge, Pritchard, Ernsberger and Thomas held down starting berths. Ernsberger and Thomas were placed on the Northeastern Buckeye league's first team. Eldridge and Pritchard received second team nominations.

Assistant Coach Bill Kopcial's reserve squad will play the opening game tonight against the Mt. Vernon reserves.

Madison plays its first home game Friday with the Shelby Whippets furnishing the opposition. The Ram reserves meet the Shelby seconds in the preliminary game at 7:15.

Six seniors, including five lettermen, give the Yellow Jackets plenty of experience. The monogram winners are: Win Curry, Ernie Williams, Ben Feldmiller (all regulars last year), Bill Frary and Jack McNeil.

Lexington After Third Win

LEXINGTON — Coach John Rees' undefeated Minutemen will be trying for their third victory of the season at Cardington tonight.

Lexington is tied with Butler in the Richland county league race, with victories over Ontario and Shiloh.

Bob Rondy Named To 1946 AP Second All-Ohio Eleven

By DON STULL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Eleven new scholastic grid stars, making almost a point-a-minute combine, were chosen today on the Associated Press' 1946 All-Ohio high school football team.

The selections were made from the votes of more than 200 high school coaches, 50 officials and 50 sports writers, the Associated Press acting only as a ballot-counter.

Ten seniors and one junior, all from different schools and all making their first appearance on the All-Star aggregation, were honored with places on the first string eleven, considered by the Ohio High School Coaches' Association as the Buckeye state's official all-star team.

Together, these boys accounted for 537 points during the season— an average of nearly 60-a-game for a nine-game campaign—but point-making alone didn't appear too important to the ballot-makers.

RONDY

The outstanding choice on the first eleven was the Coshocton Redskins' great back, Karl Sturtz, but he wasn't the top scorer of the lot. Sturtz tallied 17 touchdowns and 16 extra points for 118, finishing 17 points behind Ralph Pucci of Canton McKinley, who scored 18 touchdowns and 27 conversions in earning his place in the first-string backfield. Elida's Ralph Riegle outdistanced both of them with 189 points, but wound up on the third team.

Second to Sturtz in the balloting was Toledo Waite's great blocking, running and passing backfielder, William Gregus, who tallied 96 points, but was heralded most as a blocker.

The fourth member of the first team backfield was Don Brill of Cincinnati Purcell, who never has played in a losing ball game in three years on the Purcell eleven.

Adding to the scoring punch of the first team are its two six-foot ends—Sherwin Gandee of Akron Garfield and Hugh O'Brien of Steubenville Central Catholic.

The outstanding choice on the first string line was Nick Bolkovac, a tackle on Youngstown Woodrow Wilson's unbeaten-untied team. The other tackle was John Beletic of Cleveland Cathedral Latin's unbeaten Lions, a 195-pounder.

The only junior selected was East Liverpool's Tom Bell, a guard. The other guard with Bell was Jim Weizer of Shaker Heights. They edged Bob Rondy, Mansfield captain, for a first string berth.

Another top choice was Jim Shaffer, center of Lima Central's undefeated and untied team.

Three members of the Mansfield Tyger backfield—Ralph Majors, Ken Horvath and Ollie Cline—received honorable mention.

MIAMI, Fla. — (U.P.) — The Miami Seahawks and the Cleveland Browns will meet tonight in an all-America conference football game postponed from yesterday because of heavy rains. RIGHT OFF THE PRESS—Freshly-printed editions roll out of the News-Journal press as carriers stand ready to pick up their papers for delivery. Scanning the first editions are Robert Miller, Betty Yingling and Henry Ragsdale, front row, while Duane Mellick and Richard Chapman look over their shoulders.—(News-Journal photo)

N-J Carrier Boys, Girls Start Saving Early To Provide Funds for Their College Years

"When I grow up, I want to be——."

That boy or girl who brings your evening paper to the door very often has his future planned and money saved toward his higher education.

That's true of the featured News-Journal carriers this week—Richard Chapman, Betty Yingling, Robert Miller, Henry Ragsdale, jr., and Duane Mellick.

Dean of them all in respect to length of service and, savings is Duane, who has tucked away $300 from his two and a half years on Route 122, on Wayne street. This, he says, is for college expenses. Now a ninth grader at John Simpson junior high, he is set on being a chemist.

His favorite general science course gets more than the average home work, for Duane tries out his own experiments at home with his chemistry set. The serious-minded 14-year-old is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mellick, 341 Wayne street. His hobbies include his trumpet, which he gives a workout in the John Simpson band, and hunting and fishing.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD CHAPMAN, who has taken a great interest in art and mathematics in his seventh grade classes at St. Peter's, aspires to a commercial art career. He's the little fellow who carries Route 139 on Grace and Van Buren streets and Fifth avenue.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chapman, 181 Van Buren street, he has been on his paper route six months now and already has $50 saved up for Christmas spending. In his spare time, Richard attends Troop 4 meetings of the Boy Scouts and constructs model planes.

Betty, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Yingling, 107 Elm street, would like to be a nurse. On the job for nine weeks, Betty is just beginning to "make time" on her double routes, 24 and 25. In the course of a half hour, Betty manges to get the late editions delivered to her 87 customers on North Diamond, West Fourth, Willow, Elm, West Third streets and on Ashland road. Her savings so far amount to $20.

EVENINGS FIND HER TAKing care of children or meeting with Girl Scout Troop 14. In between school and work, she has found time to add to her collection of toy dogs, her current hobby. Enrolled in the eighth grade at John Simpson, Betty considers math and spelling her "favorite subjects."

Robert Miller, 13, has $100 saved toward college and his ultimate profession as a veterinarian. Son of Mrs. Mary Miller, 295 Meyers avenue, Robert has carried Route 19 on Fifth and Sixth avenues and Ashland road for six months.

The husky lad is a sports enthusiast and ranks gym work as "best" of the school curriculum. He is an eighth grade pupil at John Simpson.

Another of the professional "class" is Henry Ragsdale, jr., 12. He wants to be a doctor. The School Boy Patrol member at Simpson has saved $40 so far from Route 17-B, which takes him to Central, Clairmont, Oakenwaldt and Dewey avenues.

Besides his savings from his year's work, Henry has bought a 16 mm. movie projector and his own clothes. From now on, his savings, according to Henry, are "going to be saved for college." He's a seventh grader at John Simpson and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ragsdale, 486 Central avenue.

Barclay On Bridge

FOR EVERY tough break you get—resulting in a gift to your opponents—you will receive a favor in return. It is human, perhaps, not to notice your good luck and recognize it as such, but if you will keep track of it conscientiously, you will find that in the long run the good and bad fortune finish even up.

South expected to cash two aces against that slam, into which his partner had pushed the opposition with his sacrifice effort, but only the first one, the heart, produced a trick. After laying down that, he tried to cash the club A, but East ruffed it. Two high trumps took out South's, then East proceeded to make the contract without risking the diamond finesse, which would have lost.

Planning to discard dummy's losing diamonds, East parked two of them on the heart K and Q, then led the heart 8. When South covered with the 9, the dummy ruffed. That set up the 7 and 6, on which the diamond Q and club 7 were thrown, making the dummy solid for the rest of the tricks.

By noting the bidding sequence, you will see that East and West had settled for 5-Spades when West passed the call. The only thing that got East into this readily makable slam was North's bid of 6-Clubs. What happened was that North and South pushed their opponents into a sure thing slam which they would not have scored without the unintentional co-operation of their friendly enemies.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

WHEN OPINIONS DIFFER

Of all the feathered folk who live in the Old Orchard or sometimes visit it none is more friendless than Spooky the Screech Owl. He is left alone. No one wants to have anything to do with him. I wouldnot like that, would you? Spooky doesn't mind. He doesn't mind the least teeny weeny bit. The truth is he prefers to be alone except in the nesting season. He is what is called sufficient unto himself. People like that don't want company. They want to be alone. They don't enjoy company.

Spooky had moved into a hollow in the trunk of a big tree in the Old Orchard early in the fall. Long ago Yellow Wing the Flicker had made that house. He and Mrs. Yellow Wing had raised one family there, then left it for whoever might choose to live there. Timmy the Flying squirrel and Mrs. Timmy had spent a winter there, then moved to a house Farmer Brown's boy had put up for possible feathered tenants in another part of the Old Orchard.

Yellow Wing's old house just suited Spooky. It was not too big yet plenty big enough. It was deep, and this was to Spooky's liking. It would keep him dry and warm in bad weather. He liked the location. It was almost on the edge of the Green Meadows. Only the old stone wall and some bushes separated them from the Old Orchard. There are many Mice on the Green Meadows, and to Spooky a Mouse dinner is what a Turkey dinner is to human folk. It was only a little way to Farmer Brown's barn and chicken yard around which he had caught both Mice and young Rats many times. Then there was the Old Orchard itself. Mice lived there also.

Of course, it wasn't long before every one in the neighborhood knew that Spooky had moved into the hollow in that old tree. Thereafter that tree was carefully avoided by most of the smaller people, especially at night. In daytime Sammy Jay and some others often visited that tree, especially on bright, sunny days. The brighter the day the bolder they were, Sammy Jay even screaming noisily just outside the doorway of that hollow. You see, Spooky doesn't like daylight and all the Old Orchard folks know it. Some folks think that he cannot see in daylight, but that is a mistake. He can see. He can see very well but he doesn't like the light. I suspect it hurts his eyes.

So, on bright days the Old Orchard folk came and went as if Spooky was nowhere about. But on dark days they found it convenient to be elsewhere, and the Old Orchard was quite deserted by feathered folk. You see, on a dark day Spooky sometimes takes it into his head to go hunting, especially if he has been unsuccessful the night before.

"I'm glad he had decided to live here," declared bright-eyed little Tommy Tit the Chickadee.

"Aren't you afraid of him?" asked Slatey the Junco.

"Not in the daytime, and at night I sleep where he can't possibly get me even should he find out where I am. Shadow the Weasel found out yesterday that Spooky is living here. That means that Shadow will not come back. He'll leave this hunting ground to Spooky and that is a good thing for the Old Orchard," replied Tommy Tit.

"I think so, too," said Timmy the Flying Squirrel, poking his head out of his house, close to which Tommy Tit was sitting. "It is true that he is hunting at the very time I am out, for we both sleep through the day, but he seldom bothers me. I am a lot more afraid of Shadow the Weasel than I am of that little Owl, for Shadow could come right into my house while we are asleep. Now it is as you say: Shadow is likely to keep away. So I am glad he is living here."

But in many Mouse homes hidden in the grass of the Old Orchard there was dismay and great fear. "Nothing worse could have happened than to have that fellow come to live in the Old Orchard," declared a gray old Mouse when he heard the news, and all the other Mice agreed with him.

The next story: "The Wasteful One."

CHURCH SEEKS MEETING PLACE

GALION—Trustees of the First Evangelical United Brethren church, which, together with the parsonage, was destroyed in an $85,000 fire Sunday night, met last night to discuss problems raised by the blaze. No decisions were reached.

A. R. Sorrick, chairman of the board of trustees, declined comment, but it was learned that the board considered use of the senior high school as a meeting place, but scarcity of coal may make it impossible to meet at the school.

Other Galion churches have offered their services, but the board has reached no decision.

The fire, which started in the church furnace room about 9:15 p. m. Sunday, gutted both the church and the parsonage, which is adjoining. Crestline and Bucyrus firemen aided the Galion fire department in fighting the stubborn blaze, which was not extinguished until 2 a. m.

Although no firemen were injured, two women were hurt as a result of the fire. Miss Kathryn Melcher, of Johnsville, nurse at Galion City hospital, fractured her left arm when she fell over a fire hose, and Mrs. Reed Drake sustained torn ligaments in the knee when she tripped.

JOINT MEET SLATED

MILLERSBURG — Loudonville, Sugarcreek and Millersburg Rotary clubs will have an inter-city meeting in the banquet room of Day's restaurant Tuesday evening at 6:15. The speaker is to be announced.

Services Held For Carpenter

MILLERSBURG — Funeral services were conducted at the Hunter funeral home at 2 p. m., Sunday for George Reuben Carpenter, native of Holmes county, late of Coshocton county, who was found dead at 4 p. m. Saturday at his home in New Castle. Rev. Lloyd Krepps officiated and burial was in the Salem church cemetery.

Mr. Carpenter, who was a laborer, was found by Carl W. Horn. The coroner of Coshocton county said a heart attack caused his death. He had been dead for some time, it was stated.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Grace Sarvis, Akron, and Mrs. Ruth Groves, Oceanside, Calif.; five grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a brother, Olus Carpenter of Orrville and a sister Mrs. Hannah Lowe, Holmesville.

Galion Housewife Burned by Blast

GALION—An explosion in the oven of her gas stove Saturday afternoon caused serious burns to Mrs. Harry Kelly, of 320 East Payne avenue.

The accident occurred as Mrs Kelly was preparing lunch. She was treated by a physician for burns to her arms and face.

HOME BUILDING SHOWS SLUMP IN NOVEMBER

Approval Granted For Only Three New Houses.

Construction of new homes in Mansfield went into an even deeper slump in November as contractors concentrated on getting already-started buildings under roof.

Only three new homes were authorized during the month, building permits show, as compared to five in October and 26 in September.

Over-all new building evaluation slipped during the month, too, dropping from $46,80 in October to $22,553 in November. Only the four new non-residential projects, totaling $2,103, were planned.

Among the three new homes was a $400 structure while the two others cost $9,50 and $10,000. New homes built or planned for this year total 172 as compared to 65 [illegible] ar.

Marriage Licenses Near 1,000-Mark

Marriage licenses granted by Richland county in 1946 headed for the 1,000-mark today.

In the first 11 months, 969 licenses were issued compared with 685 for all of 1945.

Probate court records showed an increase for October with 93 marriage licenses issued, considerably under the highest month of the year, June, when 117 couples obtained permits.

The marriage licenses more than doubled divorce actions during November. The clerk of courts office reported 44 divorce and 20 civil actions filed during the month.

SHELBY MEETS WITH EMPLOYES ON WAGE HIKE

City to Negotiate Demands For 15-Cent Increase.

SHELBY—Demand for a 15-cent wage increase for the Municipical Light and Water companys' employes will be negotiated at a conference between city officials and R. J. Jameison of Cleveland, International Union of Operating Engineers' executive, at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the city hall.

Arrangements for the conference on the wage increase were completed when Jameison met with the city council Monday night at its regular semi-monthly session.

At the meeting, Jameison said employes were agreeable to a clause in the ordinance increasing wages if the living conditions continued to raise or that decreased the wages automatically if the cost of living dropped.

Second Ward Councilman E. E. Eckert pointed out that all of the city employes should be considered by the salary committee of the council when it meets with Jameison. The wage increase, if agreed upon by the committee, would be brought before the next meeting of the council Dec. 16.

Included in the wage negotiation conference Wednesday will be the council's salary committee, Councilman-at-Large Ross Sipes and First Ward Councilman James Herlihy, Law Director Robert Green and Jameison. Mayor Frank Long said that he would be in Cleveland and unable to attend the session.

BOARD VOTES $500 INCREASE FOR TEACHERS

by next September, board members pointed out.

Under the schedule, about 81 per cent of school revenue will go for salaries of teachers, principals and other employes.

H. W. Arlin, board president, explained that the average $500 annual salary boost is all the board can safely provide now in view of the rapidly rising cost of school operations other than salaries.

Arlin said the three-mill levy was voted primarily to give teachers and other employes more pay, but partly to take care of rising school costs

Richard Nixon, Senior high teacher, contended that the board wouldn't have had any additional funds for operation next year if teachers hadn't pressed for the three-mill levy for salaries.

Teachers Protest.

Dan Habr, another Senior high instructor, said teachers were paid less than many unskilled workers. Arlin replied that there are many advantages, including better working conditions and chance for advancement, in the teacher profession

Principal spokesmen for the teachers were Nixon, Haber, E. L. Neasley and Harry Hostetler

The new schedule provides that the first increase in teachers' pay must be limited to $500. If the teacher is then still under the maximum for his experience and training, additional boosts of $100 a year, plus the regular salary increment provided by the board will be added.

Other provisions of the new schedule include

A minimum of $6 a day for temporary substitute teachers.

Increase of $100 a year for teachers of handicapped children in addition to the salary provided in the schedule

Increases of $50 a year in addition to the salary provided in the schedule upon the completion of six or more semester hours of credit from an accredited college or university

Increases of $500 a year for permanent substitutes.

Harold A Bruce, board member who sponsored the pay measure, reported that 20 of the 31 teachers with master's degrees are at the maximum of their salary range, 31 of the 118 instructors with bachelor's degrees are at the maximum, and 15 of 38 with no degrees are receiving the top pay in their classifications.

He said 18 teachers are over their present maximum wage figures so most of them will get increases of only $470 instead of $500. One will get $465 and one only $200 because that's all it will take to put them at the peak wage figure There are approximately 235 teachers in the school system.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Wins Praise of Music Lovers

Rounding out the first half of the program, Goossens introduced the "Appalachian Spring" suite himself, calling the composer, Copland, as "the most outstanding of modern-day composers."

The suite, lightly touched with the modern influence, and more heavily of the simple, homey quality of the Pennsylvania hills, was first heard in New York on May 14, 1945 when Martha Graham and her ballet company danced at the National theater. After sensing its success as a ballet, Copland, who had written the suite expressly for the dancer, arranged it for symphony orchestra

The anguished and beautiful Symphony No. 5 in E minor by Tchaikovsky, which comprised the second part of the program, could not have been reproduced with greater feeling. Once renounced by Old World composers as well as the Russian press as "cold" and "boring", the work has become one of a half-dozen of the great symphonic favorites of the Western World.

Encores included the light "Prelude" by Jonathan, prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin" by Wagner, and a specially orchestrated portion of the second act of "Twilight of the Gods", also by Wagner.

Other concerts of the season, sponsored by the Civic Music association, will include the National Male Quartet on Jan 9 and Selma Kaye, dramatic soprano, on Feb 24.

PACT UNITES 2 GERMAN ZONES

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The United States and Great Britain will make public today an agreement to unify economically their occupation zones in Germany and to share the estimated $1,000,000,000 cost until self-sufficiency is attained.

The agreement to begin breaking down the barriers between at least two of the four zones of Germany was signed by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in the council chamber of the Big Four at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel last night

It became the first positive step toward fulfilling the 18-month-old Potsdam agreement to treat Germany as an economic unit—an agreement never fulfilled.

France and Russia have prevented all previous steps toward economic unity of Germany, but the Anglo-American plan is open to them to join any time they wish.

Until now Germany has been divided into four watertight compartments, but the Anglo-American aim is to merge their two zones in an effort to bring the bulk of western Germany to economic self-sufficiency within three years. Until then administration of the zones will cost American and British taxpayers an estimated billion dollars, the burden to be shared equally by the two.

FARMER'S BODY FOUND AFTER 48-HOUR SEARCH

E. J. Claus Suffered Heart Attack in Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS—The body of E. J. Claus, 42-year-old farmer who had been missing since last Friday, was found at noon yesterday in an unused hallway above the Cully News in downtown Bucyrus.

Coroner G. R. Kackler, of Galion, said death was due to a heart attack which possibly had occurred early Friday afternoon shortly after Claus had been seen in a nearby restaurant.

The body was found after a search of nearly 48 hours by the police department and friends from North Robinson. Claus operated a farm near North Robinson.

Police found the body after learning that an inquiry had been made by a man answering Claus' description concerning a dentist's office formerly located in the rooms destroyed by fire in the Mader block recently.

Adkins Seeks Legal Advice Before Accepting Compromise

SHELBY—J. P. Adkins, general manager of the municipal utilities, today sought legal advice before giving city council an answer to the councilmen's compromise to give up the supervision of the Municipal Water company and to continue as superintendent of the light plant without a cut in his $383 a month salary.

Mayor Frank Long reported to council that Adkins told him late yesterday that he did not want to put himself "out on a limb" by resigning from the water post and then later find himself ousted as light plant superintendent.

Adkins raised the question as to whether the change can be made legally, Mayor Long told council.

"As soon as I am able to get an opinion from my legal counsel, I will give counsel the answer to their compromise," Adkins told the mayor, "probably in time for the next meeting in two weeks."

The council agreed on the compromise after councilmen had been given an opinion by Law Director Robert Green that the councilmen had no authority to oust Adkins from the water plant under civil service laws

The council had charged Adkins with neglect at the water plant, pointing out that erosion at the plant's dam and reservoir caused approximately $3,000 which could have been avoided.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy to Make. No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of splendid cough relief—about four times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and let's you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

HOME BUILDING SHOWS SLUMP IN NOVEMBER

Approval Granted For Only Three New Houses.

Construction of new homes in Mansfield went into an even deeper slump in November as contractors concentrated on getting already-started buildings under roof.

Only three new homes were authorized during the month, building permits show, as compared to five in October and 26 in September.

Over-all new building evaluation slipped during the month, too, dropping from $46,940 n October to $22,553 in November. Only the four new non-residential projects, totaling $2,103, were planned.

Among the three new homes was a $400 structure while the two others cost $9,500 and $10,000. New homes built or planned for this year total 172 as compared to 65 last year.

Marriage Licenses Near 1,000-Mark

Marriage licenses granted by Richland county in 1946 headed for the 1,000-mark today.

In the first 11 months, 969 licenses were issued compared with 685 for all of 1945.

Probate court records showed an increase for October with 93 marriage licenses issued, considerably under the highest month of the year, June, when 117 couples obtained permits.

The marriage licenses more than doubled divorce actions during November. The clerk of courts office reported 44 divorce and 20 civil actions filed during the month.

CHURCH SEEKS MEETING PLACE

GALION—Trustees of the First Evangelical United Brethren church, which, together with the parsonage, was destroyed in an $85,000 fire Sunday night, met last night to discuss problems raised by the blaze. No decisions were reached.

A. R. Sorrick, chairman of the board of trustees, declined comment, but it was learned that the board considered use of the senior high school as a meeting place, but scarcity of coal may make it impossible to meet at the school.

Other Galion churches have offered their services, but the board has reached no decision.

The fire, which started in the church furnace room about 9:15 p. m. Sunday, gutted both the church and the parsonage, which is adjoining. Crestline and Bucyrus firemen aided the Galion fire department in fighting the stubborn blaze, which was not extinguished until 2 a. m.

Although no firemen were injured, two women were hurt as a result of the fire. Miss Kathryn Melcher, of Johnsville, nurse at Galion City hospital, fractured her left arm when she fell over a fire hose, and Mrs. Reed Drake sustained torn ligaments in the knee when she tripped.

JOINT MEET SLATED

Mr. Carpenter, who was a laborer, was found by Carl W. Horn. The coroner of Coshocton county said a heart attack caused his death. He had been dead for some time, it was stated.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Grace Sarvis, Akron, and Mrs. Ruth Groves, Oceanside, Calif.; five grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a brother, Olus Carpenter of Orrville and a sister Mrs. Hannah Lowe, Holmesville.

SHELBY MEETS WITH EMPLOYES ON WAGE HIKE

City to Negotiate Demands For 15-Cent Increase.

SHELBY—Demand for a 15-cent wage increase for the Municipal Light and Water companys' employes will be negotiated at a conference between city officials and R. J. Jameison of Cleveland, International Union of Operating Engineers' executive, at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the city hall.

Arrangements for the conference on the wage increase were completed when Jameison met with the city council Monday night at its regular semi-monthly session.

At the meeting, Jameison said employes were agreeable to a clause in the ordinance increasing wages if the living conditions continued to raise or that decreased the wages automatically if the cost of living dropped.

Second Ward Councilman E. E. Eckert pointed out that all of the city employes should be considered by the salary committee of the council when it meets with Jameison. The wage increase, if agreed upon by the committee, would be brought before the next meeting of the council Dec. 16.

Included in the wage negotiation conference Wednesday will be the council's salary committee, Councilman-at-Large Ross Sipes and First Ward Councilman James Herlihy, Law Director Robert Green and Jameison. Mayor Frank Long said that he would be in Cleveland and unable to attend the session.

SHELBY ROTARIANS HEAR COL. BIERLY

SHELBY—Lt. Col. Glenn Bierly, of Mansfield, an officer in the Ohio Guard, was guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Shelby Rotary club Monday.

The superiority of a small trained force as against a much larger force of untrained individuals was demonstrated during the last flood in the Ohio River Valley, Col. Bierly pointed out.

Only by complete and open discussion with various groups of citizens, can we obtain solutions to any problem, he said. The speaker termed the Guard as "Military fire insurance" and urged its support.

Guests included Floyd Dent, Howard Doner, Bill Mead and D. L. Burns of Mansfield and J. M. Crawford.

BOARD VOTES $500 INCREASE FOR TEACHERS

by next September, board members pointed out.

Under the schedule, about 81 per cent of school revenue will go for salaries of teachers, principals and other employes.

H. W. Arlin, board president, explained that the average $500 annual salary boost is all the board can safely provide now in view of the rapidly rising cost of school operations other than salaries.

Arlin said the three-mill levy was voted primarily to give teachers and other employes more pay, but partly to take care of rising school costs.

Richard Nixon, Senior high teacher, contended that the board wouldn't have had any additional funds for operation next year if teachers hadn't pressed for the three-mill levy for salaries.

Teachers Protest.

Dan Haber, another Senior high instructor, said teachers were paid less than many unskilled workers. Arlin replied that there are many advantages, including better working conditions and chance for advancement, in the teacher profession.

Principal spokesmen for the teachers were Nixon, Haber, E. L. Neasley and Harry Hostetler.

The new schedule provides that the first increase in teachers' pay must be limited to $500. If the teacher is then still under the maximum for his experience and training, additional boosts of $100 a year, plus the regular salary increment provided by the board will be added.

Other provisions of the new schedule include:

A minimum of $6 a day for temporary substitute teachers.

Increase of $100 a year for teachers of handicapped children in addition to the salary provided in the schedule.

Increases of $50 a year in addition to the salary provided in the schedule upon the completion of six or more semester hours of credit from an accredited college or university.

Increases of $500 a year for permanent substitutes.

Harold A. Bruce, board member who sponsored the pay measure, reported that 20 of the 31 teachers with master's degrees are at the maximum of their salary range, 51 of the 118 instructors with bachelor's degrees are at the maximum, and 15 of 38 with no degrees are receiving the top pay in their classifications.

He said 18 teachers are over their present maximum wage figures so most of them will get increases of only $470 instead of $500. One will get $465 and one only $200 because that's all it will take to put them at the peak wage figure. There are approximately 235 teachers in the school system.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Wins Praise of Music Lovers

ly reproduced the impressionistic, painter-like tendencies of the modern Frenchman.

Rounding out the first half of the program, Goossens introduced the "Appalachian Spring" suite himself, calling the composer, Copland, as "the most outstanding of modern-day composers."

The suite, lightly touched with the modern influence, and more heavily of the simple, homey quality of the Pennsylvania hills, was first heard in New York on May 14, 1945 when Martha Graham and her ballet company danced at the National theater. After sensing its success as a ballet, Copland, who had written the suite expressly for the dancer, arranged it for symphony orchestra.

The anguished and beautiful Symphony No. 5 in E minor by Tchaikovsky, which comprised the second part of the program, could not have been reproduced with greater feeling. Once renounced by Old World composers as well as the Russian press as "cold" and "boring", the work has become one of a half-dozen of the great symphonic favorites of the Western World.

Encores included the light "Prelude" by Jonathan; prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin" by Wagner, and a specially orchestrated portion of the second act of "Twilight of the Gods", also by Wagner.

Other concerts of the season, sponsored by the Civic Music association, will include the National Male Quartet on Jan. 9 and Selma Kaye, dramatic soprano, on Feb. 24.

TOWN'S POSTOFFICE MOVES INTO BANK

NORWALK — (INS) — Nearby Monroeville's post office was set up in a bank today and municipal officials moved to other buildings after fire leveled city hall.

Cold and low water pressure handicapped firemen in fighting the blaze, which startetd in a waste storage room behind the mayor's office.

Housed in the 65-year-old building were the community's fire department, library and jail, in addition to the post office and city offices. All the mail was saved, as were town records, which had been moved for a scheduled council meeting last night.

PACT UNITES 2 GERMAN ZONES

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The United States and Great Britain will make public today an agreement to unify economically their occupation zones in Germany and to share the estimated $1,000,000,000 cost until self-sufficiency is attained.

The agreement to begin breaking down the barriers between at least two of the four zones of Germany was signed by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in the council chamber of the Big Four at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel last night.

It became the first positive step toward fulfilling the 18-month-old Potsdam agreement to treat Germany as an economic unit—an agreement never fulfilled.

France and Russia have prevented all previous steps toward economic unity of Germany, but the Anglo-American plan is open to them to join any time they wish.

Until now Germany has been divided into four watertight compartments, but the Anglo-American aim is to merge their two zones in an effort to bring the bulk of western Germany to economic self-sufficiency within three years. Until then administration of the zones will cost American and British taxpayers an estimated billion dollars, the burden to be shared equally by the two.

Adkins Seeks Legal Advice Before Accepting Compromise

SHELBY—J. P. Adkins, general manager of the municipal utilities, today sought legal advice before giving city council an answer to the councilmen's compromise to give up the supervision of the Municipal Water company and to continue as superintendent of the light plant without a cut in his $383 a month salary.

Mayor Frank Long reported to council that Adkins told him late yesterday that he did not want to put himself "out on a limb" by resigning from the water post and then later find himself ousted as light plant superintendent.

Adkins raised the question as to whether the change can be made legally, Mayor Long told council.

"As soon as I am able to get an opinion from my legal counsel, I will give counsel the answer to their compromise," Adkins told the mayor, "probably in time for the next meeting in two weeks."

The council agreed on the compromise after councilmen had been given an opinion by Law Director Robert Green that the councilmen had no authority to oust Adkins from the water plant under civil service laws.

The council had charged Adkins with neglect at the water plant, pointing out that erosion at the plant's dam and reservoir caused approximately $3,000 which could have been avoided.

Decision to "sweat out" the coal strike is getting no cooperation from the thermometer.

Remember, this is the year that you decided last year to do your Christmas shopping early!

Reports are to the effect that "astrology is coming into vogue again"—evidencing need for further spread of adult education.

When Reason Fails, Force Emerges

EVEN the most violent and vicious of labor agitators can surely realize that some way must be found, either through agreement or force, to prevent work stoppages that disrupt essential services or cause such actual suffering as would quickly result from continuance of the miners' strike.

Conditions that existed in labor-management relations when the strike weapon was originally sanctioned by majority public opinion were vastly different than they have since become, and a constant effort has been made to provide other means of settling disputes between employes and employers.

Instead of being—as was designed—a last resort of majorities of dissatisfied workers, the strike technique has become the "first resort" of ambitious, highly paid and dictatorial labor leaders, who have greater regard for the steady flow of union dues into their treasury than for the welfare of either their own members or the helpless public.

Under the present plan, as exemplified by the actions of John L. Lewis, a strike precedes negotiations—regardless of how great a penalty is thus imposed upon idle miners by loss of earnings and on millions of people by resultant scarcity of a natural resource.

Under such a dictatorship as exists in Russia and some other countries the solution would be easy—the purging process would quickly eliminate recalcitrant figures and the military would enforce governmental edicts.

Any such high-handed procedure, however, is rightly out of accord with the fine principles of individual liberty under self-government, and it is recognized that everybody has the right to work, or not to work, as he chooses. But it is not recognized, nor can it long be tolerated, that any one man gain and hold sufficient power to determine whether or not 400,000 men should work, when such a decision serves to upset the entire national economy and jeopardizes health and lives of their fellow countrymen.

Change From UNRRA Methods Probable

IN A DISPATCH from Athens by New York Times correspondent, C. L. Sulzberger, a disquieting picture of Yugoslavia is presented. War devastation is being cleared through UNRRA-donated railroad, building and heavy machinery to the enhancement of Marshall Tito's national reputation. The United States supplied 72 per cent of UNRRA funds and supplies.

Thus this country, in effect, has backed a dictator who is anything but cordial to America and whose form of government is avowedly Soviet-dominated communism. While there is widespread distrust of communism on the part of Yugoslavs, there is a growing fear, too. Tito's strength becomes greater as his country is rehabilitated, and opposition to him consequently weakens.

The Yugoslav situation is one reason why the state department wants this country's international relief contribution, which will succeed UNRRA in 1947, to be administered directly between Washington and the nation aided. Such a plan has obvious shortcomings. It would, however, prevent American relief resources from being used to further political dictatorships that rob citizens of personal freedom.

Churches Should Guard Against Fire

THE RECORD of churches destroyed by fire would seem to indicate some lack of reasonable precautions against fire starting in such structures and gaining considerable headway before being discovered.

With the destruction of Mansfield's beautiful First Congregational church, almost five years ago, still vividly in mind, Galion's Sunday night fire, which razed the 46-year-old United Brethren church, serves to stress the continuing danger of leaving such properties unguarded against fire hazards.

Arrival of cold weather, with requirement for use of heating equipment, gives emphasis to frequently repeated warnings that all such equipment should be carefully inspected and any needed repairs or replacements made before firing is started. This applies with equal force to gaining assurance that there are no defects in electric wiring, to which some fires are traceable.

Stassen Supporters Already Active

WHATEVER may be the outcome of the 1948 Republican national convention, insofar as nominating a presidential candidate is concerned, it will be interesting to watch the methods by which Minnesota's former governor, Harold E. Stassen, will be kept in the limelight as a strongly backed aspirant for that honor.

In any event, it is being made clear that Stassen is determined not to become "the forgotten man," and while he is not now in public office—as are some others who are being mentioned, it appears that he is to be kept in the public eye in a favorable way during the next year and a half—which is much longer than was required by Wendell Willkie to gain the 1940 nomination.

Latest maneuver of Stassen's Minnesota supporters is distribution of a brochure entitled "The Man America Needs," published by the state central committee of Minnesota and devoted to sounding the praises of Stassen as a man well trained in public service, a naval officer during the war, an authority on world peace, a family man and a progressive.

Active Republicans in various parts of the country have received a copy of the booklet and political experts view it as the opening blast of a steady barrage that will be laid down in Stassen's behalf between now and June 1948.

A magazine offers a prize for a 16-line poem which will put insomnia victims to sleep—but most folks find a routine radio program quite efficacious in inducing slumber.

It was at Reno, after his twelfth divorce, that a disillusioned male is quoted as saying: "This has cured me"—but it may be wondered.

Coal miners will continue to have an argument in favor of higher wages as long as their places of abode are referred to as "shacks."

As one observer views it: "During courtship man yearns for a woman—after marriage the 'y' is silent."

Many Signs Indicate Important Changes In Economic Situation

By RAYMOND MOLEY

SINCE it is of extreme importance to congressional budget-makers to make no mistake in anticipating next year's income, it might be well that they take account of what one economist calls the "poisonous point."

That "point," says the economist, is that which is passed when a seller's market changes to a buyer's market. "Yesterday," he says, "you may have had great over-demand and duplication of orders. This morning, everything is changed. Customers refuse to take low-grade commodities at all. They want good ones at lower prices. You may be passing over the line while you sleep."

There are plenty of signs that the "poisonous point" is being approached in many lines of business and that, when the Christmas rush is over, we shall have reached it quite generally.

Department stores, still enjoying Christmas business, begin to advertise astonishing price reductions. Women in New York, and presumably elsewhere, receive the sudden thrill one morning of seeing hats offered at half price. Furs are down, and so are small diamonds.

The more prosaic potato joins these luxuries on the bargain counter. The secretary of agriculture has to buy potatoes at support prices and cannot sell them, dehydrated or not, to foreign buyers. The story comes from a reliable source that an industrial user has bought potatoes at $5 per car.

The textile industries report big cancellations of orders. So do the furniture people. Book sales are diminishing.

Variety reports a movie-goers' revolt at further hikes in admission prices. A recent new picture on Broadway, offered for view at over $2, flickered to empty seats. The price came down forthwith.

Much of this revolt may be due to the drain on pocketbooks for other sorts of goods. Economists are seldom united on anything, but now their differences in viewing 1947 are matters of degree. Some expect a mild recession; some, a more important one.

None will now say, as some said a year ago, that five years of uninterrupted prosperity are ahead.

In any event, congress must not count on an ever-growing income. Nor should union leaders make their plans on the assumption that full employment, partly bolstered by great sums spent for the new armament race, will go on. In such a situation, even the most friendly "fact finding" boards are going to have trouble justifying new wage concessions. The situation of labor, unionized or not, cannot be so easy when supply exceeds demand.

It is difficult, in the face of these well-known circumstances, to anticipate a 1947 wave of strikes. Can union leaders, despite the heady wine of power to which they are addicted, still read the signs of the times?

Farmer's Diary: "Those Barnyard Twins."

PHO AND AITCH, the Corriedale twins, make an interesting addition to our barnyard family, here at Honey Creek. These sisters, for all their pedigree, behave much like other sheep. If there were more than two of them, they would try to "flock." As it is, they are inseparable, and their nosey inquisitiveness makes them seem doubly muttonheaded.

They pester Bambi, the heifer calf, by following her everywhere. I saw the calf turn quickly and run behind the trailer that stood in the yard, to escape from them. As if by prearrangement, they divided and ran both ways, so that the befuddled Bambi met them both going and coming. Instead of twins, they must have seemed like quadruplets. Bambi gave a protesting leap and kick and high-tailed it down to the far side of the clover meadow.

Skipper, the black spaniel, barked at them at first, and threatened chase. Forbidden, he sat down and gave them the shrewd, doggish appraisal. Then he resumed gnawing his bone upon the lawn. Pho, the curious, presently came near and thrust out her nose toward the bone. Skipper got up, gave her a dirty look, and carried the bone away, with dignity, to a hideaway between the barberry shrubs. There I heard him growl deep in his throat and gnash against the bone exasperatedly.

They have a little dance number that they do, in gleeful mood. They back up and run at each other, heads down, butting each other over backwards. Then down on both front feet, with rear heels up—resume—repeat . . . makes me feel sheepish to try to explain it.

To their credit, I may say that we have not needed to mow our lawn for two months. They keep it clipped short enough. They are very little work for anyone, since they run in and out of their low door at will, drink at the outlet of the spring, and forage for their living.

They cleaned up the frozen tomatoes in the garden, and finished trimming the kraut cabbage that I had started. They drank cider from the dripping bung spout at applebutter time. From promising lambkins they are progressing rapidly toward full grown ewes. Their winter wool is thick and long and curls into their eyes.

Side by side they stand in the dark door of their stall, and ruminate. They are untroubled by any care, and seldom bleat at all, being completely satisfied and completely in agreement. Either, alone, would be unhappy. Two heads are better than one—two heads are the start of a flock—since both are sheep heads.

Essence of Onion.

Now we're getting somewhere. For generations past it's been neglected. Sturdy pioneers who faced truculent Red Men and hostile animals quailed before its potency. Cooks tossed them whole into stews and chowders. But when it came to paring them, cutting them, and using small pieces the stoutest housewifely spirits recoiled. The bulb of the liliaceous Asiatic plant, Allium Cepl, with its pungent taste and smell, has been a worthy adversary.

But modern science prevails—albeit a trifle tardily. The American Chemical Society announces that one ounce of the distilled essence of onion has the power of 2500 ounces of the common garden bulb. A few drops of the oil of Allium Cepa should do a household for years. A little vial will make a distinctive gift. No reason now why our meats, stews, chowders, sandwiches and sauces should not have the definite, distinctive, delightful flavor and aroma that only onion can contribute.—Wall Street Journal.

MacArthur Bans Adverse Critics From Tour of Japan and Korea

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A top-secret cablegram has just been received by the war department from General MacArthur banning correspondents of several important newspapers from taking a trip to Japan. They include the New York Herald Tribune, Christian Science Monitor, Chicago Sun, San Francisco Chronicle, PM, and the Daily Worker.

In his telegram to the war department, General MacArthur accused these papers of "downright quackery and dishonesty."

MacArthur's cable was sent after the war department wired him, suggesting that a group of newspaper editors and correspondents make a brief tour of Japan and Korea, as they recently did through Germany.

The war department, which is always loath to make suggestions to MacArthur, phrased the telegram in tactful language, proposing that it might be a good idea to let the press get a real picture of the occupation.

The supreme commander in the Pacific was not hesitant about replying. First he objected; then, when the war department sent him a second cable, he reluctantly accepted—but turned thumbs down on the above-mentioned papers.

While many army men would agree with MacArthur's opposition to the Daily Worker, which is an official Communist publication, the war department was surprised at MacArthur's banning of the Christian Science Monitor, which is non-partisan, and the New York Herald Tribune which is Republican. The San Francisco Chronicle, also Republican, is edited by Paul C. Smith, who had a brilliant war record in the marine corps and navy, and who, during a recent trip through Germany, was vigorous in his praise of the U. S. Army's work.

Byrnes on MacArthur.

MacArthur's top-secret telegram follows in full:

"CINCAFPAC Tokyo—While continuing my doubts as to the advisability of the contemplated trip, in view of the insistence of the war department, I will withdraw my objection. I would like to have an opportunity to pass upon those contemplated for selection before their invitation is accomplished. I believe the list should not include actual writers but should be limited to publishers and editors and should not include those connected with papers of known hostility to the occupation. Such papers are the Christian Science Monitor, Herald Tribune, Chicago Sun, San Francisco Chronicle, PM, Daily Worker and others of this stamp whose articles and editorials have not only been slanted but have approached downright quackery and dishonesty. (Signed) MacArthur."

Note — Secretary of State Byrnes, talking to a closed-door session of the Bilgore committee, recently said of General MacArthur:

"While that fellow has been doing a fine job, nevertheless he is a prima donna-because I have known him for 30 years—and when you send out there for costs (occupation cost), he is liable to fly the coop and raise a lot of sin."

Headache in Korea.

A committee of congress recently visited Korea, supposedly on an investigation trip. But what they didn't find out would fill a book—a book, incidentally, which may be one reason why General MacArthur is loth to have certain newspapermen visit the Pacific.

Army censorship has hushed it up, but serious rioting has occurred in Korea, with about 50 civilian policemen killed in the city of Taegu. Their bodies were horribly mutilated by an aroused mob of natives.

Police cruelty was given as the reason for the uprising. American MP's patrol the streets of Taegu and other cities, but are under orders not to get mixed up in civilian brawls.

Meantime, factories are at a standstill because of lack of supplies and transportation, while part of the civilian population is on the verge of starvation. Insiders blame conditions on various factors, including the Russians and the blundering of Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, U. S. commanding officer.

The fact that our military and American military government detachments get three square meals a day and are billited more or less comfortably, while Koreans must do without, also hasn't helped matters. Neither has the fact that Hodge is constantly feuding with the AMG chief, Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, who is griped over alleged discrimination against AMG by Hodge in the allocation of food supplies and vehicles.

Enlisted Men's Liquor.

Lerch contends that he cannot do a satisfactory administrative job with what Hodge gives him, but is afraid to make an official complaint because Hodge is his superior officer. Korean conditions probably will not improve until either Hodge or Lerch is removed—and insiders who know all the facts say it should be Hodge.

Another sore point is Hodge's brass-hat manner of handling enlisted men. The caste system is perhaps worse in Korea than any occupation area, and one thing which especially riles enlisted men is the disposition of liquor.

An officer can store as many bottles as he wants in his billet, and only the liquor left over after officers buy all they want is turned over to enlisted men's clubs. As a result, the clubs frequently don't get any.

General Hodge, however, was hesitant about serving liquor to the congressional committee which inspected Korea. At first, he decided to serve only suntory, a Jap brand of Scotch, at a party in his private dining room at the Chosen hotel in Seoul. At the last minute, however, he changed his mind, and requisitioned half a case of champagne, three bottles of port wine, and three bottles of sherry for the party.

Army Cancer Cure.

Walter Reed General hospital has made some excellent progress in treating cancer, but it's kept such a hush-hush secret that the doctor in charge of cancer research, Lieut. Col. Milton Freedman, is about to be kicked upstairs because of a news leak.

It so happens that the amount of cancer in the army is high—so much so that the number of cases is kept secret. But one whole wing at Walter Reed hospital is devoted to cancer, and Dr. Freedman made so much progress that various editors got wind of what was happening and tried to print the story.

At this point, Surgeon General Norman Kirk stepped in. It was made clear that medical corps policy did not permit mentioning the name of any hospital specialist. Only the surgeon general's office could be mentioned in connection with cancer research.

The cancer specialists didn't particularly mind this policy. But as an aftermath of this, Kirk wants Freedman kicked upstairs to an administrative post, where he would shuffle papers instead of practicing medicine.

This Freedman refuses to do.

Meanwhile, doctors criticize Kirk for continuing his wartime policy of wasting medics. During the war he corralled 40 per cent of the nation's physicians, then let many of them spend about three months sitting idle for every month they devoted to medical practice. Some had so much free time, they even organized softball teams to keep themselves occupied. Many have stayed on in the army, but were fed up with the regimentation of the surgeon general's office.

Pressure Against Wyatt's Housing Policies.

WASHINGTON — It is sometimes hard for the public to find out what goes on here. So much of it is done delicately behind the scenes so that you don't even see the flash of the knife.

The public is aware of the grand retreat that President Truman has been executing in recent weeks away from the things for which Franklin D. Roosevelt stood and fought.

Now the retreat has taken another turn, and the hostage is Wilson Wyatt, housing expediter, whose program apparently is being sacrificed to the private real estate and building interests which have yelped so long for his scalp.

This is the clearest indication so far who is maneuvering the retreat. It demonstrates dramatically how the business-banker influence quietly and effectively is exerting itself on administration policy through top advisers in the White House circle.

These things don't just happen. Who, then, is responsible?

They are not far away. Chief among them are Secretary of Treasury Snyder and RFC Director George E. Allen. These are two of the men closest to the president. They have his ear constantly. Their backgrounds become important.

John W. Snyder's is that of the banker. He has been in banking all his mature life. Most recently he was associated with a St. Louis bank. He also served with the RFC in the Jesse H. Jones regime, and likewise as federal loan administrator, before being taken into the White House circle directly, first as reconversion and stabilization director and then secretary of treasury.

George Allen is the genial man-about-town here of many years, a familiar figure in New Deal circles, though not taken very seriously then. He had been in and out of many careers, including a tour of duty as a District of Columbia commissioner. Because of his affability, his native shrewdness and his many contacts here, he ended up on the boards of directors of many corporations which could use his talents here.

He won Harry Truman's friendship as a member of his party on the 1944 vice presidential campaign train. Vice presidential candidates do the second-string stuff, and often are lonely.

When Mr. Truman became president, George Allen got a desk in the White House, with some minor government connections as the excuse. He was still serving the numerous corporations with which he was affiliated.

Among the business connections were some insurance companies as well as big industrial corporations.

Such a background of insurance and big business does not conduce naturally to sympathy with the employment of RFC resources in the housing field. That was what Wilson Wyatt proposed and what he was authorized to do by the act of congress. George Allen balked over loans for the Wyatt prefabricating program, which is an important phase.

Mr. Wyatt already had been handicapped by other developments, including the lifting of price controls which made it impossible to hold down prices of housing for veterans.

The housing episode is just a symptom of the hardening of policy here against the use of government resources on a large scale in our postwar economy, a surrender to private business and finance. Mr. Wyatt urges that housing must be handled on an emergency basis, with government aid, if we are to get anywhere.

Communists Boast of Strong "Influence."

WASHINGTON—In the innumerable post-mortems on the November 5 landslide, little has been said about the effect of the cry of Communism which was raised by Republicans from one side of the country to the other. Shrewd analysts of the election returns have now concluded that this was one of the most potent forces in the shift from the party in power to the opposition.

Above all, it underscored the fears of millions of Americans who are disturbed by the upheaval of continuing strikes in major industries.

Over and over again, the quarrel between Communists and non-Communists in the labor movement finished what seemed to be proof from the enemy's own camp.

In Democratic campaign headquarters here, there was a sense of helplessness as, increasingly, the word "Communist" became a smear word to be hurled at liberals and middle-of-the-roaders along with extreme leftists. One of the most effective shots in this propaganda warfare came from what was apparently a non-political source.

Speaking before the American Legion convention in San Francisco on September 30, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, let loose a resounding blast against Communists in the United States. He said more or less directly that they were at work at every level and in every organization. Hoover's charges were repeated over and over again throughout the campaign.

It was first reported to Democratic headquarters here that Hoover had said there were thousands of Communists in the government in Washington. This aroused the ire of Chairman Robert Hannegan, who promptly called Attorney General Tom C. Clark to ask how it happened that Hoover was making a speech with such obvious political implications.

This has long been a point of sensitivity in the department of justice. Often in the past, it has seemed to be Hoover rather than the attorney general who was making policy for the department. Clark, who would hardly be described as the strongest attorney general in American history, promised to look into the Hoover speech.

Hoover, it developed, had not made the statement that there were Communists in the government. But according to the FBI director, they are everywhere else—in "some newspapers, magazines, books, radio and the screen . . . some churches, schools, colleges and even fraternal orders . . ."

"Their propaganda," said Hoover, "skillfully designed and adroitly executed, has been projected into practically every phase of our national life. The fact that the Communist party in the United States claims some 100,000 members has lulled many Americans into a feeling of false complacency. I would not be concerned if we were dealing with only 100,000 communists.

"The Communists themselves boast that for every party member there are ten others ready to do the party's work. These include their satellites, their fellow-travelers and their so-called progressive and phony liberal allies. They have maneuvered themselves into positions where a few Communists control the destines of hundreds who are either willing to be led or have been duped into obeying the dictates of others."

This could be the prelude for the kind of Red hunt that took place after World War I.

The A. Mitchell Palmer witch-hunt of that earlier day was a broad sweep that caught up not only Communists and radicals but honest liberals who believed in defending traditional American liberties.

Hoover will have no trouble in getting all the money he wants from congress. That is one place where Republican economy will not be felt. The FBI chief has always been more popular with the Republicans than with the Democrats.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

You must have heard about the man who discovered a tombstone on which was engraved, "Here lies a lawyer and an honest man," and whose comment was, "Ground sure must be scarce in this cemetery. Imagine burying two men in a single grave!"

And the client who called his attorney to explain a predicament in which he found himself. "Cheer up," counseled the attorney. "They can't put you in jail for that." "Maybe so," said the client, "but I'm speaking from the jail now."

Little Linda checked with her mother. "You told me, Mommy, that angels have wings and fly, didn't you?" "Yes, I did," said the mother. "Well," said Linda, "last night I heard Daddy calling my nurse an angel. When is she going to fly?" The mother answered promptly. "Tomorrow morning, darling."

"Now that you ask, Judge," said the defendant with downcast eyes, "I guess I never did earn an honest dollar. But there was that two bits you gave me to vote for you last—." "Case dismissed," roared the judge.

A Winston editor tried hard to cheer a disconsolate author recently. "What you should do," he counselled, "is climb out of your lonely shell, get married, take a nice penthouse in town, give parties, have children and dogs and things." "If you don't mind," groaned the author, "I think I'll commit suicide."
